

This section includes research studies that address health service provision, human resources for health, monitoring and surveillance of disease or health, health information system, drugs and technology for population health, health economics and finance, policy/governance to improve population health, and evaluations. Click on the On-going Projects and Completed Projects tab to browse through the list.